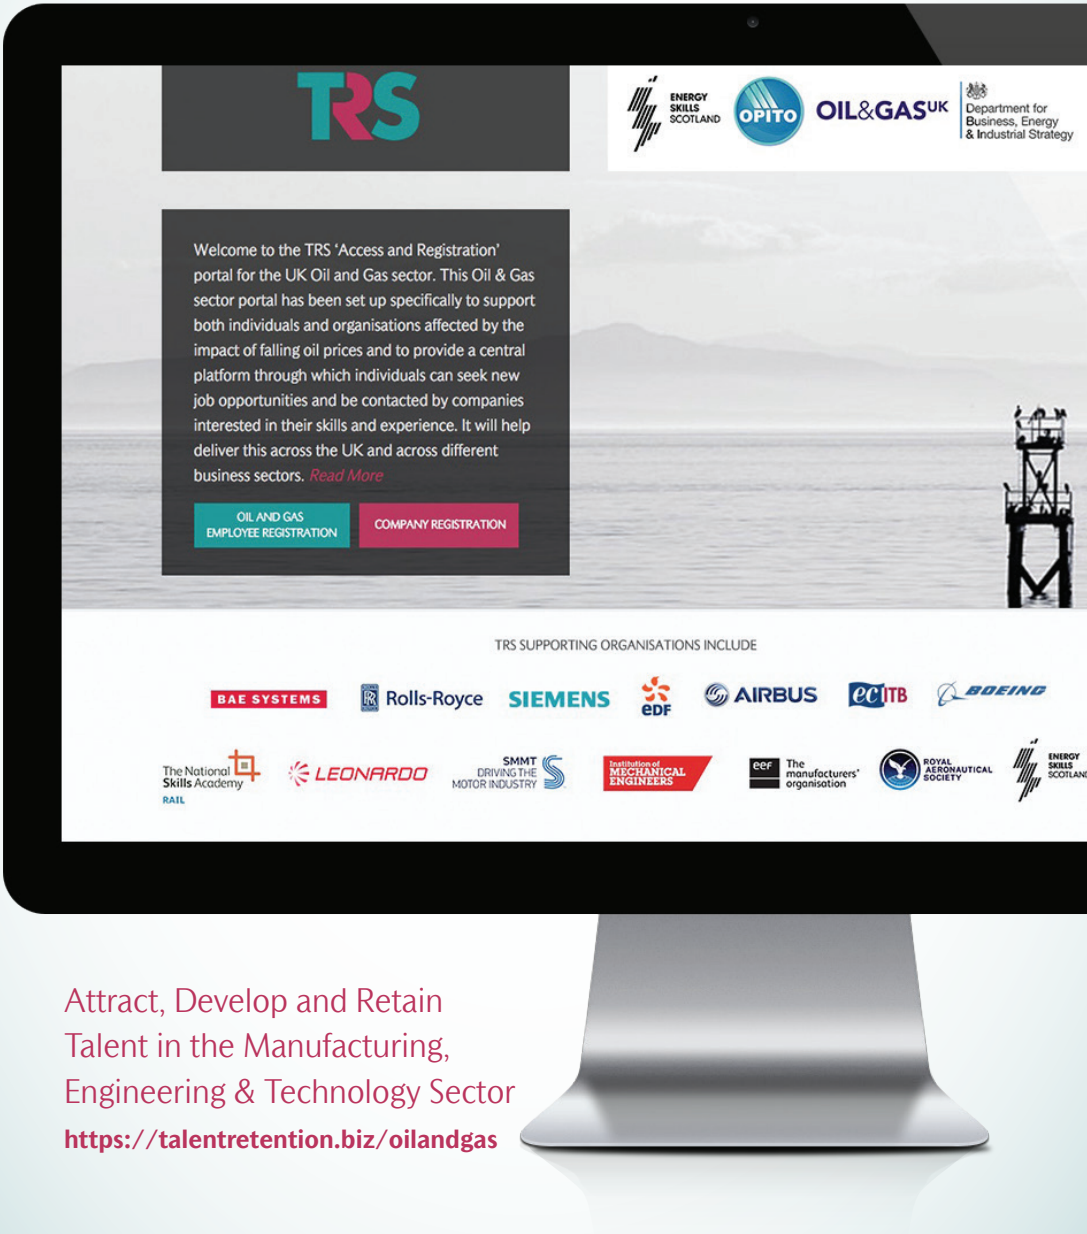
Recruitment, Redeployment and Talent Management



Attract, Develop and Retain Talent in the Manufacturing, Engineering & Technology Sector

https://talentretention.biz/oilandgas

The TRS programme has been set up to promote the 'attraction, development and retention' of people and skills across UK manufacturing, engineering and technology industries, with a particular focus on supporting the 'redeployment and recruitment' of individuals who have been affected by reorganisation, closures or redundancy.

TRS is a 'not for profit' programme initiated through Government and supported and led by employers such as Rolls-Royce plc, BAE Systems, Siemens, Airbus Group , EDF Energy, Boeing and Leonardo, together with other industry sponsors including: trade associations, professional institutions, universities, colleges and sector organisations.

In response to the impact of falling Oil prices, TRS is working with key Government and sector stakeholders to develop a tailored web-portal to support the Oil & Gas Sector. Through this portal, any affected individual can upload their Profile & CV and be seen and contacted directly by interested employers. They can also apply to any vacancies on the TRS system. Dedicated resourcing and talent management platform providing a 'first port of call' for all redeployment, recruitment and skills retention activities across the AME sector
